Council Approves Gas Line Extension

Coleman council, at its meeting November 14th, received information from an engineering firm that disclosed that cost of servicing the pole treating plant at the east end of Coleman and providing a line to service another residence in the vicinity of the plant with natural gas, would cost in the vicinity of $11,000.

This figure was the total cost of digging the trench, purchasing pipe, laying pipe, and backfilling, plus cost of going under the railway tracks with the gas line. The two parties, who are asking this service of the town were present at the meeting, and after a mutual agreement between council and themselves, it was verbally decided that the cost of digging the trench and backfilling would be borne by the two consumers.

The town will provide and lay the pipe, supply the welding, do the railway underpass and get this easement. The consumers are to give the town easements on going into their property with the line. An agreement is to be signed this week so that work can get underway immediately.

Application will be made for approval on three winter works projects that will include a sewerage line extension to service West Coleman homes; a sewerage line extension line to service an area in North Coleman and construction of a new culvert from Poulton's corner south to the CPR tracks which would cost approximately $2,000.

The matter of local welfare was discussed and a letter is to be written and sent to the Provincial Department of Health and consults to Charles Drain, M.L.A., and Stan Smythe of the Blaimore Welfare Service Offices, indicating that the town of Coleman feel that the Crows Nest Pass is being used as a dumping area for many welfare cases due to low rents in the district.

The secretary, Cliff Noble, was instructed to write a letter of appreciation to the Blaimore Detachment of the RCMP, thanking them for the good work they are doing and especially for the work done on "Gate Night" and Halloween.

A new water rate by-law is to be presented at the next meeting so that the new rates can become effective as of January 1.

A detailed report on the recent Municipal Convention held in Calgary, was given by Councillor Mel Cornett and Secretary Cliff Noble.

Councillor Ted Kryczka reported that problems with the ice plant at the arena had been corrected and ice would be ready for skating this week.

The town foreman, Rudy Szymanski, was given permission to store his own van in the basement of the town shop and to house the town light delivery, which he uses on his job, in the garage at his home.

das, 15-year-old Blaimore girl, will be part of the concert.

Health Hints
from
THE CANADIAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION

Gallstones

Gallstones are stones which are formed from the bile salts in the gallbladder. Bile is formed in the liver and stored in the gallbladder. It passes from there by way of a tube called the common duct into the intestine, where it aids in the digestion of food. The gallbladder is only a storage sac for bile, and when it is removed, the bile simply flows directly from the liver into the intestines.

The Canadian Medical Association advises that the patient who complains of abdominal pain and indigestion after meals may have gallstones. They are usually detected by x-ray.

Gallstones may be present without causing any symptoms, but more commonly they cause inflammation in the gallbladder. The patient complains of pain and indigestion after meals. If one of the stones escapes into the common duct between the gallbladder and the intestine, it causes very extreme pain. If the stone becomes stuck in the tube, it will block the flow of bile and the patient becomes jaundiced.

Cancer of the gallbladder, although not common, is more likely to occur when gallstones are present, the CMA reports.

When gallstones are diagnosed, usually by x-ray, surgical removal of the gallbladder before complications develop is often recommended unless there is some other health problem that makes it risky for the patient to have an operation.

Christmas Seals In The Mail

Weeks of preparation by thousands of volunteers have culminated in the mailing of Christmas Seals to householders all over the province. The campaign opened on November 14th and the provincial objective is $275,000. Funds received will be used to further research, assist in rehabilitation of ex-sanatorium patients, nursing services, and maintain mobile and stationary x-ray and tuberculin testing clinics.

Sponsoring the campaign are 17 Kinsmen Clubs - Athabasca, Calgary, Banff, Camrose, Drumheller, Edmonton, Edson, Grand Centre, Grande Prairie, Hinton, Lacombe, Lethbridge, Medicine Hat, Peace River, Ponoka, Vegreville and Vermilion; the Kinette Clubs of Brooks, and three Rotary Clubs: Cardston, High River and Red Deer.

Christmas Seals have been sold in Canada for over 60 years and in Alberta for the past 28 years. This year the Centennial theme is carried out on the Seals, and they are colorful additions to holiday mail.

November 21st has been designated as Christmas Seal Sunday, and hundreds of churches throughout the province have been supplied with Christmas Seal bulletins. Clergy will be reminding their congregations of the need to help stamp out TB and other respiratory diseases—TB and RD.

Tuberculosis Associations across Canada are deeply concerned with the detection and control of respiratory diseases—lung cancer, emphysema, chronic bronchitis, pleurisy, etc.—as well as continuing in the search for undiscovered tuberculosis. In 1966, 665 new cases of TB were discovered in Alberta, 72 of which were children under 10 years of age. Emphysema is reaching epidemic proportions, resulting in disability and death.

The work of the Alberta Tuberculosis Association and Christmas Seal Campaign receive high commendation from the Premier of Alberta, the Hon. E. C. Manning, who says, "It is with great sincerity that I commend the work of the Association in its endeavors for all Albertans to live in TB-free areas. I endorse the sale of Christmas Seals."

Computers To Analyze Electrocardiograms

Computers will be used in the analysis of electrocardiograms for the first time in Alberta at The University of Alberta's Department of Medicine. The work will be conducted under the terms of a fund established by a prominent Edmonton businessman in memory of his wife.

C. W. Carry, 11720 - 89 Avenue, has given an initial $10,000.00 to establish the Muriel Carry Memorial Fund to support investigation into methods by which coronary artery disease and heart attacks may be predicted in apparently healthy persons.

Through the Fund, Donald MacFarlane, a graduate in engineering physics with a Masters degree in electrical engineering, has been appointed Assistant Professor to conduct the studies. This is the first joint appointment in the Faculties of Engineering and Medicine at the University.

Professor MacFarlane will work in the Division of Cardiology at The University of Alberta Hospital utilizing computer interpretation of electrocardiograms of apparently healthy people.

Over the next three years it is hoped that exercise studies, presently being carried out by Dr. Simon Lee, a Lecturer in the Department of Medicine, will be expanded by computer analysis and will provide a method for detailed analysis of the changes of electrocardiograms during exercise.

The Fund was established in the spring of 1967. Delivery of initial equipment—special recording equipment for electrocardiograms—is expected early in 1968. A pilot project is underway at the present time.

Jeweller Outbids Royal Mint For Nuggets

George Shaw, owner of the Klondike Nugget Shop in Dawson City, Yukon Territory, makes jewellery from unrefined gold taken out of streams a few miles from his shop since 1886, when the first specks of yellow metal were discovered in Rabbit Creek.

A report in Canadian Jeweller says Shaw pays as high as $50 an ounce for the gold, for which the Royal Mint pays only $35, but as the gold gets scarcer and fewer men pan the streams and sluice the hills, he finds it increasingly difficult to get enough of the mineral to fill the requirements.

The English born jeweller works at a tiny, cluttered work-bench, foot-pedaling a gasoline blowpipe, brought to the Territory in 1898, when it was used to make the fabulous jewellery that adorned the dance-hall girls and ladies of the wealthy "bonanza kings".

Watch For Hidden Kick In Champagne Cork

Being hit in the eye by a champagne cork is no slight injury, says The Medical Post.

It reports the findings of a group of London doctors who, after seeing eight such cases (four of them professional waiters or waitresses) have estimated that a cork from a bottle of "bubbly" travels at a speed of 45 feet a second, enough to send it 40 feet in the air.

The one ounce champagne cork with its lead shield can thus travel the two feet from bottle to eye in one-thirtieth of a second and as the blink reflex takes one-tenth of a second the corneas can receive the full impact.

The London doctors say many of these injuries could be avoided by the simple trick of holding a napkin over the cork while the wire retainer is being undone. The bottle should be pointed away from all nearby faces, including that of the uncorker.

There was no suggestion that people should give up drinking champagne.

Have you ever wondered...

...how it is determined who receives how much welfare assistance from the Province of Alberta?

To ensure that Alberta families truly in need receive the financial assistance required to provide them with an adequate living income, their requirements are judged on the "budget deficit" system. This method balances the cost of such basic requirements as food, shelter, clothing, utilities and medicines against the family assets and income. If the results show a deficit, the Alberta Department of Public Welfare supplements the income to raise it to a pre-determined "adequate" level, based on present living costs. In this way, all Albertans are assured of sufficient income to maintain health and decency for themselves and their families.

...what the recipe is for good growing soil?

As in all recipes, the main concern is the proper amount of the correct ingredients. Alberta farmers can learn if the soil in their field contains the proper proportions of plant nutrients by asking the Soils Branch of the Plant Industry Division, Alberta Department of Agriculture.

For a small fee, they can have a sample of soil laboratory-tested for fertility level, fertilizer requirements, acidity, alkalinity, salinity and organic matter. A report is then issued, based on the results of the analysis and on the cropping history of the land, recommending to the farmer the proper fertilizer needs, or the cultural practice adjustments necessary for the most efficient crop production. The same service is offered Albertans who wish advice on the soil of their vegetable or flower gardens, or lawns. The Soils Branch also issues regularly, general recommendations for the use of fertilizer with various types of soil.

... what steps are being taken to prevent mental health problems in Alberta?

Trained personnel teams consisting of psychiatrists, psychologists and social workers travel the province from Guidance Clinic headquarters to assess and diagnose mental problems and to recommend solutions. This assistance in the management of emotional and behavior problems of children and adults is provided by the Mental Health Division of the Alberta Department of Health and is available to schools, parents and doctors, without charge. Appointments can be made through school superintendents, doctors or local health units. The Division maintains residential treatment centres for disturbed children where rehabilitation training and recreation are provided by a professional staff, and operates out-patient clinics at the Guidance Clinics. The Mental Health Division also administers the plan under which patients in mental hospitals are provided with hospital and medical care at a cost of $1 to $1.50 per day.

... what it takes, besides "a heap-o-livin'", to make a house a home?

Every homemaker knows that the house she is building, remodelling, or occupying, should be designed to suit her convenience, decorated to please her taste, and managed to the best of her ability. To be sure that all three objectives are achieved, Alberta homemakers, can call on professional assistance from the Home Economics Extension Service of the Alberta Department of Agriculture. For help in drafting house plans, choosing building materials, selecting exterior design and interior decoration, the services of a Home Design Specialist are available through District Home Economist Offices. The D.H.E. herself will advise on color schemes, finishing materials, appliances and approximate housing costs. And, to assist in such areas as the use of credit, the keeping of household records and the establishment of comparative values, the Home Economics Extension Service provides the skill and knowledge of a Home Management Specialist.

... how far ahead you must be able to see to plan Alberta's power requirements?

At least six years into the future, because it takes about five years to progress from "decision-to-build" to "power-producing-plant". Planning several years ahead of time for new power plants and the major transmission lines that connect them with the existing system is vital to providing sufficient power to meet the needs of Alberta's growing industry. This "electrical forecasting" is done by the Alberta Power Commission, a section of the Alberta Department of Industry and Development. No one can just the Commission decide when and where new plants are to be built but it must also co-ordinate the efforts of the various private industrial corporations which share in installing new power sources. The overall supervision of the Alberta Power Commission eliminates duplication of effort and equipment and encourages the interchange of power between companies, thus keeping the cost of power as low as possible.

... who bears today's responsibility for Alberta's tomorrow?

Alberta's future depends on the people who live in our province right now. It is their potential and their development which are the basic raw materials from which tomorrow must be constructed. The responsibility for providing every Albertan with the opportunity to develop his personal potential to the fullest lies with three newly-created agencies of the Province of Alberta. The intention of the Human Resources Research Council is to undertake social, educational and economic research so that new and improved programs may provide this opportunity to individuals and communities throughout the province. The Alberta Advisory Council, formed of Alberta citizens whose interests include both the economic and social aspects of life in the province, will act as a sounding board for new ideas and will assess the value of present programs. The coordinating body for the project is the Human Resources Development Authority. Together, these three bodies form an organization whose firm intention is to create the greatest possible opportunity for the personal potential development of every Albertan.

FIRE ANTICS

(By A. E. Bridges, Alberta Fire Commissioner)

"Fire Department antics make interesting reading," says Stan Field, the Central Alberta reporter for The Edmonton Journal. He was referring to the Red Deer Fire Department which responded to a house fire — extinguished it while the man who caused it, slept on blissfully. It was a case of fast work by the fire department.

Burning up beds is a common affair. There are hundreds of bed fires in Alberta each year. It's not so much man's desire to keep warm in bed as it is to have those last few puffs in complete comfort and relaxation. Too often it works out badly and it makes an awful mess of the bed and frequently raises the most unsightly blisters. People who cause fires don't always live to see the mess so there is very little actual experience to pass on to others — nothing left but hearsay evidence, which is most times not credited.

Man is fairly ingenious so he should be able to figure out a less painful way to smoke in bed — for instance why not set up the bed in the swimming pool. Just have a rubber pillow high enough to keep his head out of the water — a floating ash tray and he would be well protected. As he falls asleep his hand drops in the water — the cigarette is dunked and we could guarantee no fiery awakening. Of course, the subject might drown but after all isn't it enough to be sure we can claim this would save a man from death by fire. And remember a person just can't expect all fire departments to be as fast as Red Deer's fire department.

'Deceptive Packaging' Supported By Women's Club

At a recent women's club meeting in Toronto at which 90 females of various ages were present, a survey was conducted which resulted in the following information, reported in Canadian Packaging: Twelve per cent wore false eyelashes, 28 per cent plucked their eyebrows and 28 per cent wore wigs or hairpieces. 30 per cent wore face powder or rouge, 84 per cent wore girdles, 100 per cent wore lipstick.

The subject for discussion at the meeting was: "Deceptive Packaging".

Air Pilot Stole Show

Tom Williams of Woodstock, Ont., opened the recent St. Catharines air show with a brilliant display of aerobatics in his Fleet-21 aircraft, according to a report in Canadian Aviation.

Williams, who won this year's American Owner Pilot Association award, owns the only existing model of this Fleet biplane, introduced after World War One. He impressed everyone at the show with his agility and skill in executing precise and complicated aerial manoeuvres, and emerged from the open cockpit to the prolonged cheers of the spectators.

As well he might, for Tom Williams is listed as the oldest active pilot in Canada. He is 82.

A Death Every Hour And Half

Every hour and a half in Canada someone is killed in a traffic accident.

The Canadian Highway Safety Council is sponsoring Safe Driving Week again this year, from December 1st to 7th in an effort to reduce this tragic toll. In previous years traffic deaths have dropped substantially during the week.

The best way to reduce car accidents, says the Council, is to follow the old truck drivers' maxim: "Drive as if the other fellow hates you and is trying to kill you". In more polite terms this is called "defensive driving".

Defensive driving means being ready for the unexpected, says Council general chairman, Norman Bell. It means wondering whether the car approaching on a curve will cross the centre line, whether there is a child behind that parked car ahead, whether you can stop in time if the car ahead stops, whether you will skid on wet pavement.

"Why not try being a defensive driver during Safe Driving Week," asks Mr. Bell. "It makes driving more interesting — and a lot safer. Perhaps you'll like it enough to do it all year round."

You can reach out with "Hand and Heart" when you make your contribution to The Salvation Army red kettles of Christmas. Holiday dinners for the hungry, toys, parties and gifts for the young and old, aid to the prisoner's family, and visits to the ill in homes and hospitals, will be provided because you reached out to "Share With Others".

Modern advertising is a necessity to hold and build business. Be proud of your business, of the goods you have to sell, of the services you have to offer in your particular line. Show the progressive spirit and the desire to serve by advertising. Do not hide your light under a bushel — proclaim far and wide who you are and what you have to sell and where your place of business is, for public memory is short, and advertising is a powerful aid to all types of businesses. Moreover, people as a general rule shop where they are invited.

Are you shopping for patterns and material to sew holiday dresses? Patterns from Butterick, McCalls, Simplicity and Vogue books will have a new sizing system in Catalogues dated January, 1968, and on.

This is a step by the Pattern Fashion Industry to make pattern sizes correspond more closely to ready-to-wear sizes. The New Sizing will be marked in Red on the pattern envelopes, in the catalogues, etc., and will be marked New Sizing. Former sizing will be marked in blue. Measurements and proportions will change slightly, so that a person who now uses a size 16 pattern will choose a size 14 in New Sizing. If you're confused, check the measurements on the package.

Family Life Education series is continuing in Claresholm — very successful, I think. Friday, November 24th, the last night, is a discussion of relations between parents and adult children, grandparents, etc. Come in and join us, if you can.

Ladies in the Fort Macleod area check elsewhere in this paper, or with my office for details of an afternoon program on Tuesday, November 28th. This will be a discussion of the latest in fabric finishes, and some "clues to clothing care" — it should be of real value to the homemaker whose head is made to swim by "permanent press", "easy care", "avril", "polyneox", etc., etc.

I might also remind you that on that same day, Tuesday, November 28th, I will be appearing on CJLT TV at 6:30 p.m. for a half hour discussion with Mrs. Mona Cox, our Clothing Specialist, on the material covered during the afternoon at Fort Macleod. The program is "Farm Fare" and replaces Farm H-Lites which appeared daily at 12:30 last winter. It has been changed to once a week half hour program with one of the D.H.E.'s doing a "ladies' day" program on the last Tuesday of each month.

Letter to the Editor

Victoria, B. C.,
Nov. 16, 1967.

Mr. Thomas Holstead,
Editor, The Coleman Journal,
Coleman, Alberta.

Dear Tom:

I enclose a remittance covering the renewal of my subscription to The Journal. It is nice receiving the paper and keeping in touch with the changes in the town from time to time. I am sure that area was blessed with a lovely summer as we were here. The rainy season is now here and it has revived the lawns which took quite a beating during the very hot weather in the summer. With so many trees everyone has the problem of getting rid of the leaves, which are now falling.

I hope you are both keeping well.

With kindest regards,

Sincerely yours,
Frank H. Graham.

NEW OUTLOOK — Despite almost impossible growing conditions at the White Sands National Monument near Alamogordo, New Mexico, a few desert plants do survive. These determined specimens, constantly struggling to maintain their crowns above the surface of the shifting gypsum dunes, keep lengthening their stems. Some have been found to have stems as long as 40 feet.
